

Just So You Know:

Not everyone in this group of people would identify as a "lady" or a "ma'am".

There are people of various genders, and we can't always tell, just by looking, what sort of gender someone is.

You could say "Does anyone need any more water?" instead of "Do you need more water, ma'am?"

You could say "Did you want ranch dressing with that?" instead of "Did you want ranch dressing with that, ma'am?"

It's not something people often talk about, so I just wanted you to know!

Just So You Know:

Not everyone in this group of people would identify as a "guy" or a "sir".

There are people of various genders, and we can't always tell, just by looking, what sort of gender someone is.

You could say "Does anyone need any more water?" instead of "Do you need more water, sir?"

You could say "Did you want ranch dressing with that?" instead of "Did you want ranch dressing with that, sir?"

It's not something people often talk about, so I just wanted you to know!

Just So You Know:

Not everyone in this group of people would identify as a "lady" or a "ma'am".

There are people of various genders, and we can't always tell, just by looking, what sort of gender someone is.

You could say "Does anyone need any more water?" instead of "Do you need more water, ma'am?"

You could say "Did you want ranch dressing with that?" instead of "Did you want ranch dressing with that, ma'am?"

It's not something people often talk about, so I just wanted you to know!

Just So You Know:

Not everyone in this group of people would identify as a "guy" or a "sir".

There are people of various genders, and we can't always tell, just by looking, what sort of gender someone is.

You could say "Does anyone need any more water?" instead of "Do you need more water, sir?"

You could say "Did you want ranch dressing with that?" instead of "Did you want ranch dressing with that, sir?"

It's not something people often talk about, so I just wanted you to know!

Just So You Know:

Not everyone in this group of people would identify as a "lady" or a "ma'am".

There are people of various genders, and we can't always tell, just by looking, what sort of gender someone is.

You could say "Does anyone need any more water?" instead of "Do you need more water, ma'am?"

You could say "Did you want ranch dressing with that?" instead of "Did you want ranch dressing with that, ma'am?"

It's not something people often talk about, so I just wanted you to know!

Just So You Know:

Not everyone in this group of people would identify as a "guy" or a "sir".

There are people of various genders, and we can't always tell, just by looking, what sort of gender someone is.

You could say "Does anyone need any more water?" instead of "Do you need more water, sir?"

You could say "Did you want ranch dressing with that?" instead of "Did you want ranch dressing with that, sir?"

It's not something people often talk about, so I just wanted you to know!